

Korean

Residential Culture

I-IL Girls' Highschool 2-6

hanok

a house with traditional Korean architecture

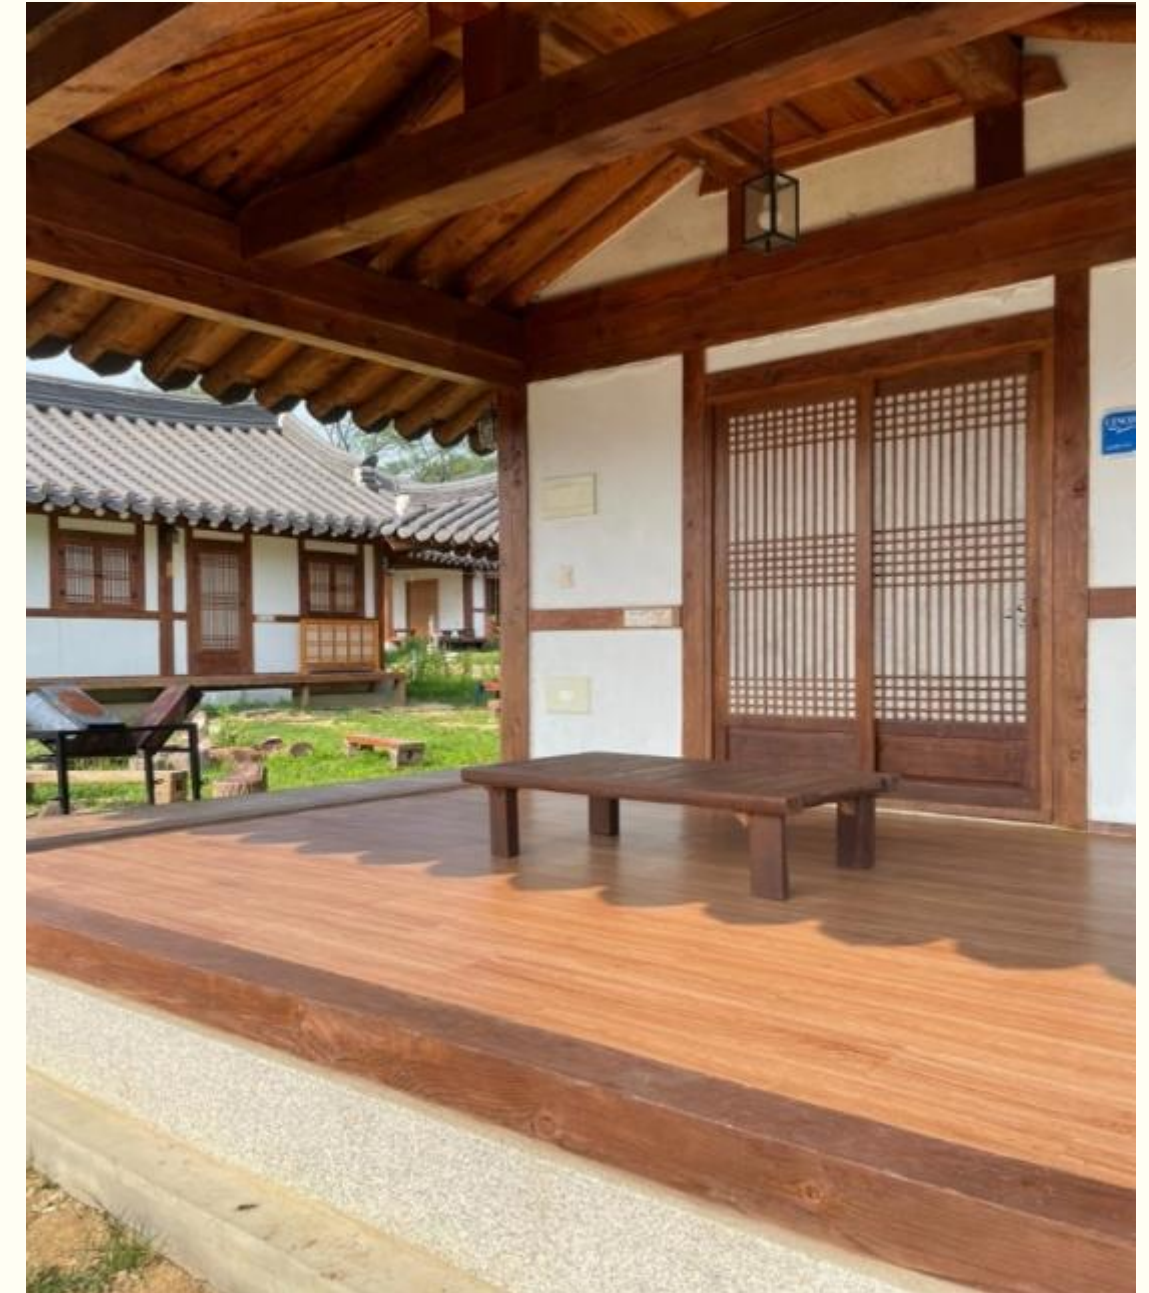

2 Types of Hanoks

a thatched cottage: a house with a roof connected with rice straw, wheat straw, reed

Giwajip : a tiled house

Daecheong Maru of Hanok

- a large floor between rooms.(Daecheong Maru is located in the center of Hanok)
- Eaves where the floor is located are higher than others
- The hot air rises upward and there is always a cool breeze in the Daecheong
- It is used as a space where members of the family gather to have a meeting or treat guests

korea's floor boiler culture

1인가구

Features of boiler

- Ondol, which can be said to be the origin of Korea's boiler, is a unique technology from Korea's Okjeo-Goguryeo jokgu.

- Heating through steam has the characteristic that it takes less time to raise the room to the desired temperature than ondol.

Boiler advantages and disadvantages

advantages

- comfortable warmth
- energy efficiency
- Space utilization

disadvantages

- Construction cost
- repair cost
- maintenance

Living traditions in アニメ

Animation "Hello Jadoo!!"

Where?

What is this?

Living traditions in アニメ

Animation "Hello Jadoo!!"

나도! 나도 할래!!

Korea's moving culture

Ladder Truck

This is a ladder truck used for moving. It is mainly seen in apartments or townhouses.

Housewarming

After moving into a new house, it is common to invite acquaintances and have a housewarming party.

Korea's moving culture

Jjajangmyeon eating culture
After moving, I eat Jjajangmyeon delivered to quickly fill my hunger.

Sirutteok
After moving, people often give out rice cakes to their neighbors.

• combined bathroom and toilet •

residential and commercial complex

Lotte World Tower

Mainly, there are various shops
on the lower floor and residential complex on the upper floor

superstition related to residential culture

Don't step on the threshold. Stomping on the threshold brings misfortune.

A mirror should not face the bed. It's believed that having a mirror in a bedroom can disturb your sleep and bring bad luck.

superstition related to residential culture

back to a mountain, face to water: a house with a mountain behind and a river in front.

There's a superstition that leaving a broom standing up at night invites evil spirits.

A family-oriented residential culture

From traditional hanoks to modern apartments in Korea, a space where families can live together is considered important.

In general, the living room and kitchen are designed to be open to facilitate family communication.

In addition, community activities are active in apartment complexes and housing complexes.

A family-oriented residential culture

Many Korean families live in multi-family houses or row houses where parents and children, or grandparents and grandchildren, live together. However, due to the recent spread of individualism, independent residential forms such as studio apartments and small apartments are gaining popularity, but there are still many multi-family houses.

Q&A