

Invest in Your Glasses!

Jake Peavy

Paragraph 6 One of the simplest ways to develop your own style is to pay attention to accessories like shoes, hats, glasses, or watches. I spend a lot of time choosing my eye glasses because they can be an important part of my look. When I choose frames, I think of my 5 face shape. Since my face is rather angular, I usually choose round frames. If your face is round, however, you may look better in angular or square frames. Here's another important tip. People tend to make purchasing decisions about frames in terms of material or color, but not many think about their eyebrows. Eyebrows can be so 10 expressive, and covering them with your frames may hide the feelings you express, eventually making you look strict.
